

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Secretary A. F. Ballston, of the chamber of commerce, requested, Tuesday, that publicity be given the desire that questionnaires sent out by the chamber be filled in and returned. Upwards of 400 were sent out to residents of the towns of Killingly and Brooklyn. Up to Tuesday morning approximately 60 had been returned with the questions answered.

The questions are asked of those who have been mailed cards: 1—What can the chamber of commerce do to help your community? 2—What can the chamber of commerce do to help your business?

With the questionnaire goes this statement from the officials of the newly organized chamber of commerce: The chamber of commerce is organized to help develop and improve the civic and business interests of our town and vicinity. By answering the two questions herewith you can tell the chamber how best it can attain its greatest usefulness.

Much has been said in the past about what a business man's association or chamber of commerce might do or ought to do to best serve the community it represents. Sometimes there has been criticism because of alleged failures to make the most of opportunities. Here now is a chance for the constructive criticism. Fill out your questionnaire and send it to Secretary Ballston. It will contain a number of valuable suggestions. In all probability you can contribute another idea which will give the subject just a little more thought and important benefits may accrue.

For the first time in his long experience as gardener and grower of strawberries, William S. Franklin of Broad street has been having an ample supply of splendid native strawberries for his family table during May. Mr. Franklin says that the berries usually ripen at his place about June 15, but this year they were three weeks earlier in coming to maturity.

Attending here widespread has become the observance of Memorial day. It is interesting to note that thousands of dollars worth of flowers, potted plants and artificial floral decorations were placed on cemetery plots in this territory during the past Saturday found some playing flowers on graves or lots. Few ventured out during the storm Sunday, but Monday, especially in the morning, hundreds of people were seen at the graves.

In the city court Tuesday morning, Attorney J. F. Carpenter gave notice that he would appeal from Judge Geissler's finding of guilty of reputation of keeping a place where intoxicants are kept for sale in the case of Joseph Dumas, whose place on Providence street was raided by the police about ten days ago and five barrels containing cider seized. Three barrels were filled and two were partly filled.

The Dumas case will be the first of its kind to be taken into the superior court in this county since the coming of prohibition. Captain J. H. Bulger and Officer Ernest Chandler appeared as witnesses in the case and testified as to the reputation of Dumas pertaining to his handling of cider.

At Tuesday's session of the city court, Patrick Roach made his "tenth appearance" before the tribunal. Roach was charged with having been intoxicated. He was arrested in the northerly section of the city Saturday evening while the officers said he was engaged in drinking a telephone pole. Roach declared he had taken only one drink. He didn't know what the stuff was, but it was something awful. He paid a dollar for the hootch and said that he purchased it at a local boarding house. Roach only recently from Bagleyville, was in town on a visit when he was arrested. Roach was given 30 days in jail.

A nearly new elm roadster owned by J. A. Euvard of Pomfret and Putnam was badly wrecked Memorial day afternoon in a collision with a Hartford machine in the accident happening about a mile from Phoenixville. Mr. Euvard's car was towed into the city and taken to a local garage. The machine was nearly brand new having been purchased by Mr. Euvard about three weeks ago. The accident did not cause any serious injury to the parties involved. The top, windshield, mud guard and running board on the left side of the Euvard car was torn off.

The fact that representatives of the Salvation Army were in the Memorial day procession in this city was inadvertently omitted from Tuesday's notice of the Memorial day exercises in The Bulletin. The Salvation Army delegation was headed by Captain Charles B. Carpenter.

John Murray, of the railroad police, has practically recovered from the effects of his experience with thugs in the local railroad yard Sunday morning, when he was struck on the head with a hammer.

Mr. Murray was about town Tuesday morning. He had one tooth that was loosened in his fight extracted.

Investigation of the affair is being made by the police, who hope eventually to make some arrests.

Edward J. Moran of Woonsocket, also appeared in court Tuesday morning. Mr. Moran came in to answer to a violation of the motor vehicle laws—operating a car in this city without having a registration. Mr. Moran was ordered, when apprehended here, to appear in court on a certain day last month, Friday, May 28, but he did not do so. The matter was then taken up with the Rhode Island motor vehicle department and through that agency he was informed that he must come to this city and answer to the charges against him. Mr. Moran offered an explanation on Tuesday that he had not appeared here on May 28 because he had expected to receive a formal notification by mail to come in. He was fined one dollar and costs of $10.14.

Mrs. Ann Maria Lewin, who died Friday at the state hospital, was formerly a resident of this city. She was the widow of Edward Lewin, a veteran of the Civil war, and lived here many years. (To be continued.)

Mrs. Lewin was of advanced age, owned two houses on Bridge street. Two years ago last winter Mrs. Lewin was living alone here at that time she was found in her home with her clothing frozen to her body. There had not been any fire in the home for three or four years. It was claimed after an investigation of the case, at that time Mrs. Lewin was taken to Norwich and has since remained there. Mrs. Lucy I. Smith of Abington is a niece of Mrs. Lewin's and C. Eugene Wilcox, of Woonsocket, is a nephew.

Mrs. Barak K. Smith, who sailed from Boston Thursday last for Glasgow, Scotland, will be absent for four months. Mr. Smith is making her first trip to Scotland in 45 years. During her stay in Scotland, she will visit at many points in Scotland and England. She and Mrs. Joslin expect to sail for home about October 17.

Officer William Javala has been transferred from night duty to day duty and is now serving in the business section of the city. Officer William Sponey has been placed on night duty as a visitor in Putnam over the holiday period.

Mrs. Albert Light died at her home here Tuesday morning.

Barstow boys made their appearance in Putnam Tuesday, and the fact was noted as another evidence of the near approach of summer.

Flowers placed in local cemeteries for Memorial day were beautiful and there were great quantities of them.

Students at Putnam trade school are pleased with their new flag, floating from the left staff over the trade school building. The new flag was raised Friday afternoon for the first time. After the presentation a squad of ex-service men attached and raised the flag, while the Star Spangled Banner was being played by the band. The flag was presented the school by the state.

Much of the trouble with telephone and other electrical systems in this territory has been cleared up Tuesday, following Sunday's severe storm. Telephone employees worked through the holiday to clear the trouble.

An extinguisher was used to control a dangerous blaze in the street at the filling station near the garage on South Main street, Memorial evening about 6:30. Somehow, presumably from a carelessly thrown cigarette, gasoline on the surface of the street became ignited while a car was taking on gas. An alarm was pulled in at once, but though the department responded almost instantly the fire had been put out before the apparatus could make the short run from the central station.

JEWETT CITY

Officer John T. Delan has unearthed two Jakey joints within the last few days.

Kasper Dvovian was presented before Judge A. M. Brown Monday morning on two counts, reputation and keeping. He paid fines of $100 and $50, respectively.

Eddie Koslowki was tried Tuesday morning and was administered the same justice for like offenses.

Both produced the kopeks.

Notice was received Tuesday in the town of Griswold from Congressmen Richard P. Freeman that he has introduced bill H. R. 6452 in the house of representatives of the 67th congress. It has been referred to the committee on military affairs. The bill authorizes the secretary of war to donate to the town of Griswold, one German cannon or field piece, captured by the American army from the forces of the Imperial German government, to be used for ornamental purposes. In the placing of the gun in the town of Griswold there must be no expense to the United States.

The strong arms of the law now and then get one put over on them, which fact, as a general thing, is not heralded from the house tops. One day last week Constable Delan and Albro were out on a little quiet scouting expedition. Not over a half mile southeast by east from the top of Taylor hill, reckoning as the crew files, there lives a man, who at times peddles milk in the borough of Jewett City. On the day in question the herein mentioned official saw said man, visit in the forenoon peddling milk. The limbs of the law, being struck with the unusual circumstance of a man peddling milk when it was nearly noon day, took counsel one with the other. Finally they approached the man's wagon, noted several suspicious looking cans, and inquired what he was peddling. He said he was delivering sundry quarts of older, which he had a right to do. He and the officers had met before under entirely different circumstances. The officers approached the team. Mr. Delan on one side, Mr. Albro on the other, and not minding the darkly-threatening glances of the peddler they seized the cans by force of arms, while there was audible at this time, curses loud and deep.
